Dear educator:

The above named child is applying to participate in the New York International Children's Film Festival's Film Production Workshop. During the February 2010 public school break, children ages 6-16 will learn acting for film and produce animation and cartoon films at the Scholastic, Inc Building in Soho. Children will work as a group to conceive of, develop and construct characters, and learn how to make their characters move and speak.

Would you recommend the above named child for this program? Why or why not? How is the child's general performance in school? Does he/she display exceptional ambition, creativity, and attentiveness? Please answer below, or on a separate sheet of paper.
